Measuring Drug Concentration at the Site of Action: Techniques and Challenges
T. Cremers

Brains-OnLine LLC

Microdialysis is an ideal tool for monitoring target drug concentrations and pharmacology. The current presentation will elaborate on the principles of different kinds of microdialysis and the pitfalls regarding quantitative microdialysis. Furthermore, several microdialysis applications in skin, eye, lung and brain will be shown.